Dick the Sweet Singer.

The sweet little singing canary that has charmed the visitors to the COURIER counting room is no more. It died Thursday night leaving a certain gloom over the surroundings it had for several years made cheerful by its melodious sounds. Our many readers that attended the COURIER opening will remember the little songster, and the following lines are respectfully dedicated to Dick the sweet singer.

Sweet, silent songster, thy tuneful thrill is hushed.

No more from out thy little golden throat, Will pour a silvery flood of melody.
Companion of my joy and sorrow, Changeless wert thou when friends proved fickle.

When bowed with grief or tribulation, Thy joyful notes were e'er a healing balm To my soul deep scared with passion.

Sweet little monitor, with thy merry strain, Thou e'er didst teach me lessons of contentment.
No matter what may bind the spirit, or hamper the ambition.

To cheerfully accept the bonds;
And rising far above environments,
To lift the heart and voice in tuneful song.
— W. J. B.

One of the pleasantest high five parties of the week was the one given by Mr. and Mrs.
E. R. Sizer at their hospitable home 1740 D street on Thursday evening. The guests consisted of the most prominent society people of South Lincoln who have organized a social club for the purpose of driving away dull care and making the long winter evenings brief. Col. Sizer and his estimable wife proved to be respectively a charming host and hostess and nothing was left undone for the entertainment of the guests. A number of the participants proved most skillful players and the result was a succession of exciting games. At the conclusion of the game the players were refreshed with elegant refreshments. The following is the list of guests: Messrs. and Mesdames A. D. Burr, Wm. McArthur, C. H. Rudge, Frank Sharpe, Fred Kaley, W. G. Houtz, John P. Maulo, Walter Davis, A. R. Talbot, J. E. Riggs, G.
W. Hoyle, J. D. Harris, Mrs. Canfield, Mrs.
J. H. Beebe, Misses Maud Burr, Sadie Becker, Miss Canfield, Messrs. Geo. McArthur, Chas. and Van Chandler, T. P. Kennard, R. D.
Stearns.

Few parties during the past week have equaled in point of pleasure the one given Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Riggs, on E street, to the members of the Delta literary society. Musical and literary features predominated during the fore part of the entertainment and later the popular game of high five held full sway.
Cards were distributed among the gentlemen giving the name of some noted author, while to the ladies was given each a favorite character of one of the same author as given the gentleman. In this way couples were arranged for supper, which by the way was a delicious and delicious affair. Mrs. Riggs fully sustained her established reputation as a congenial hostess, as the following will testify: Messrs. and Mesdames Charles Keeler, A. P. Fair, Charles Keith, Walter Davis, Charles Warner, Bert Betts, A. E. Kennard, J. P. Maul, A. R. Talbot, Colonel E. R.
Sizer, Hon. T. P. Kennard, Miss Emma Kennard of Knightstown, Ind., Miss Anderson of Kansas City, Misses Anna Baldwin and Grace Ashton, and Mr. Will O'Shea.

The dance given last Friday by the aggregation of social souls known as the Patriarch's club proved to be one of the most elegant and successful parties ever given by the club.
The parties are generally held at the private residences of the members, but this time a number who had not entertained joined forces and the result was the most enjoyable gathering of last Friday evening. The hosts and hostesses of the occasion were: Messrs. and Mesdames G. M. Lamberton, N. S. Harwood, Joseph Boehmer, E. P. Holmes, R. H.
Townley, Mr. M. I. Aitkin, Mrs. J. A. Hard, Messrs. G. P. Faucon and F. M. Cook. With such a splendid galaxy of entertainers it goes without saying that the occasion was throughout one of supreme enjoyment.

The annual oratorical contest of the Palladian society of the State University was held in the chapel of the institution on Monday evening. The young gentlemen who entertained the lists were Messrs. T. F. A. Williams, Ernest M. Pollard, C. M. Skiles and J. H. Hooper. All the orations were scholarly and thoughtful and were splendidly delivered. The judges awarded first prize to Mr.
Williams and second to Mr. Skiles.

Mrs. L. C. Burr gave a party to a number of her young friends Thursday evening at her palatial residence on Fourteenth and Q streets. Mrs. Burr has an established reputation as an entertainer and nothing was left undone for the pleasure of the guests. Music and dancing were the main features of the evening's amusement. Elegant refreshments were served.

Friends of the happy couple will be glad to hear of the nuptials of Dr. Orien F. Lamberton and Miss Julia Hatch, both of this city, which were celebrated at Cornish, Me., on last Wednesday. The bride is the accomplished daughter of Dr. Hatch of this city, while the bridegroom is a popular dentist.

H. A. Collings and wife of Meridian, Conn. have located in Lincoln. Mr. Collings having purchased the Noble gallery. He comes well recommended and his work which is of a high class order, speaks well for his artistic skill.

The Patriarchs, who are venerable in name only held a most delightful party last evening at the residence of Capt. and Mrs. Phillips, Nineteenth and D streets. The party was given by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Gere.

Invitations have been received in Lincoln announcing the coming nuptials of Miss John Schullen of Sioux City, to Mr. Joel H. Levi of Chicago, which occurs February 17, at the Hotel Garretson, Sioux City.

The Tuesday Evening club was most royally entertained this week by Mr. and Mrs. R.
S. McIntosh. There was a full attendance of members, and with music, cards and dancing the evening passed quickly away.

On Tuesday evening the members of the senior class of the high school, gave a most enjoyable reception in honor of Miss Tremain at the residence of Mrs. I. S. P. Weeks, 1327 H street.

Cards are out announcing the engagement of Mr. Louis Kessens to Miss Nettie Selig-son both of this city.

Mrs. W. A. Daggett left Tuesday for Jeanette, La., her old southern home, where she will visit with friends.

Miss Daisy Fisher of Atchison, Kansas, has been the guest this week of her uncle, Mr.

Charles Stevens.

Wednesday evening was ladies night at the Union Club and a large number of the fair sex availed themselves of this opportunity to get a peep at a bachelor's methods of amusement.

Ida Friend, who has been suffering with an attack of scarlet fever the past week was considered much improved last night and out of danger.

Lost communion on Wednesday but it is not expected that there will be any great diminution in the number of social gathering in Lincoln.

Mrs. A. L. Manchester has returned from Palmyra, New York, where she was called five weeks ago by the serious illness of her mother.

Mr. Joseph C. Reynolds, formerly of the Capital hotel is now greeting his many friends from behind the desk at the Hotel Lincoln.

Mr. J. D. MacFarland was called to Greencastle, Pa., the first of the week by a telegram announcing the death of his mother.

Miss Anne Funke is visiting with relatives and friends in Peoria, Ill., and will remain there during the remainder of the winter.

Frank E. Lewis, formerly Lincoln representative of the Omaha Republican, is in the city for a few days visiting old friends.

Miss Jessie Brown of Juniata, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. M. K. St. John on L street during the week.

Miss Pauline Goldsmith left today for a few days visit to friends in Kansas City and St. Joseph.

ha, are the guests of Miss Katie Kleutsch.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sawyer will entertain the F street club this evening.

Mr. G. W. R. Pettibone is looking after his real estate interests in Seattle.

Mr. James Lyons has recovered from a dangerous spell of sickness.

Mr. Albert Watkins left for the Pacific coast Wednesday.

Mrs. Louise Penfield is in San Antonio, Texas.

Miss Effie Leese is visiting in Tecumseh.

A Fine Record.

A little over a year ago "Miller, the Grocer," as he is familiarly known, began business at this present popular location, 1130 N street, and from the start has built up a trade that is both creditable and profitable.
Few houses have come into popular favor in so short a time. Miller has a new method for doing business. He sells for cash and for cash only and if the casual reader will but stop to consider they will soon convince themselves that a house doing business on this method can actually sell goods cheaper than other houses doing business the old way. He recognizes no one and nothing in exchange for goods but cash, consequently every dollar worth he sells he can offer at ten per cent above cost instead of charging exorbitant profits that must be asked by credit houses. And it does not follow either that in order to do this he sells cheap goods, but everything is guaranteed pure, wholesome and fresh and good goods at cheap prices.
Miller has a corps of salesmen that for activity, courteousness and versatility are hard to equal. Each man has had years of schooling in the grocery line and when one of them waits upon you there is a satisfaction in knowing that your order will be both promptly and accurately filled. Then in the very department Miller has effected a new idea. This important part of the business has been let by contract and is a separate and distinct branch to itself. By this method all foods are delivered promptly and carefully, thereby giving complete satisfaction.

Mr. Miller is to be congratulated upon his success, for certainly no other grocery house in Lincoln can show equally as fine a record.
I today's paper will be found his advertisement and our lady readers are directed to look up the bargains offered and if desirable may tader by telephone—No. 398.

Too Much Game.

City Youth (out for a day's sport)—Any squirrels in these woods?
Farmer (who doesn't want hunters around his property)—Not many. They gets scared away by the wildcats and bears and—panthers and—and tigers.—Good News.

A Sincere Admirer.

Ethel—How I wish I could play like you!
Edith—How very kind of you to say so.
Ethel—Oh, I am doing very well. I am much! It must take many, many years of practice to learn to play so well.—New York Sun.

Just His Luck.

Wife (who supports him)—Did you see that Williams has advertised for help?
Now there's a good chance for you.
Eddie—Chance? No chance at all. Williams wants two men. Just my luck—Judge.

Burning Words.

Papa—Marie, how did that large hole become burned in our parlor carpet?
Marie—Oh, papa! That's where Tom let fall some words of esteem for me last evening.—Binghamton Republican.

Lincoln and Kansas City Through Pullman Sleepers.

The surprising increase in business has compelled the B. & M. to withdraw their line of combination parlor and sleeping cars and substitute regular Pullman sleepers of a modern and pleasing design that are sure to be appreciated by the travelling public.
These cars leave Lincoln daily at 8:30 p. m. run via Beatrice and Table Rock and reach St. Joe at 5:27 a. m., Kansas City 7:50 a. m.; returning, leave Kansas City 9:15 p. m. daily, St. Joe 11:45 p. m., arrive at Lincoln 7:50 a. m., making close connections at terminal points. Berths and tickets may be secured at union depot or city office, corner O and Tenth streets.

COSTUMES FOR MATRONS.

[Special COURIER Correspondence.]

Standing with reluctant feet, On the summit of the hill,
They, with faith and strong resolve, May retain their footing still.

New York, Feb. 4, 1891.—The tailor made girls who so gayly flutter into Redfern's to order their pretty gowns and coats, probably consider that they and their fair sisters the world over, are his only excuse for being,— that should they cease to exist, his occupation would be gone. A few of them who have for mothers, stylish women of well preserved figure, who believe in making the most of their attractions, know that they themselves, are not so all important. And the others will learn the same thing by and by, when they step out of girlhood to become matrons, and then some day find themselves on the threshold of middle age. When that period arrives and they are obliged to renounce the frills and furbelows which add a grace to slender girlishness, they will find compensation in the elegant and artistic costumes which Redfern designs for the dignified, stately matrons who are willing to admit that youth and they are strangers now. The sketches we publish today show us one of these ladies in her new tailor rig. In this—

Redfern calling costume, our handsome matron wears a gown of plum colored cloth, braided with mixed tinsel braids. The bodice is hidden under a wrap of subervigine velvet, edged with greblott. The hat of velvet has a tight little bow over the forehead and behind a marabout aigrette. It is tied by narrow velvet ribbons. The other illustration is a model of a Redfern house gown. It is beige colored cloth, with a front braided in gold and silver and studded with garnets. The collar is cut in scallops and it extends in revers to the waist. The plastron and sleeves are of garnet velvet.

He Takes the Cake.
"I will not give a kiss," says Lew,
"To naughty girls for I abhor it." He will not give a kiss—"Is true, He'll take one, though, and thank you for it."
—CHERRIFULNESS

Dyspepsia

Makes many lives miserable, and often leads to self destruction. Distress after eating, sick headache, heartburn, sour stomach, mental depression, etc., are caused by this very common and increasing disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla tones the stomach, creates an appetite, promotes healthy digestion, relieves sick headache, clears the mind, and cures the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia. Read the following:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything.
Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, and my food relished and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced. It relieved me of that faint, tired, all-gone feeling. I have felt so much better since I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I am happy to recommend it." G. A. PAOR, Watertown, Mass.

At the present rate of modern progress this is what you can expect in a few years.
We are not quite ready to deliver our goods to you in an air ship, but we are ready to hand them over to you at prices that are without a parallel in the history of the trade.
When you are talking of modern advancement, don't ignore the strides that have been made in the Furniture business. Look at the heavy, cumbersome and costly articles and compare them with the handsome and cheap specimens of workmanship which make the homes of today attractive. Prices which were reasonable a few years ago are extortionate now. This is especially the case with the new line of Spring Goods, which we will be able to show in March. Come and see them.
